

CareerPlan Reflections

Assessing Yourself

My most important values include:

My key interest areas include:

My personality traits include:

My strongest skill areas include:

By doing self-assessment, I learned the following about myself:

My mission statement is:

Exploring Careers

After considering various careers, my tentative (or definitive) list of choices includes:

The most important things that I learned from the various informational interviews that I conducted were:

Exploring Education and Training Options

After considering various educational and training options, I am currently focusing on the following schools and programs for my educational future:

